

Annual Holistic Health reviews are changing

We have recently reviewed when we invite patients in for their annual chronic disease reviews so we need to aim to see patients in the month of their birthday. We hope that this also helps you remember when your review should take place.

From now on we will contact you the month before your birthday as a reminder to book your appointment as well as arrange to have any blood taken from beforehand.

Some patients may have just had their annual review and feel that another appointment is not necessary. We are aware of this and, during this period of transition, the GPs have reviewed patient's records and would like these patients to attend an interim appointment so that future reviews will take place in their birthday month each year.
